

'My Life Juice'

Music and Lyrics by Jim Gaven

1st Verse:

Sometimes a friend is all you need, someone to talk to you when you're lost at sea, i'll cast my line to bring you back to shore, and we can find what you're looking (searching) for it's such a crazy world (place) that we live in, so many things to do in so many directions, we need to slow it down and take deep breaths, before we miss what happens next

Pre-Chorus:

I'll be there, through the thick and thin, you know that I care enough about you (comfortable in your own skin) to let you in

Chorus:

so call me anytime you want, and we'll listen to your favorite song, & forget about the world for a minute
or two

I'll take all of your empty pain (i wish that I could take your pain) and flush it right down the drain, then fill your heart up with some of my life juice, cuz' that's what friends are for, life juice

2nd Verse:

Sometimes a friend is all you need, someone to talk to keep you company, I listen well to what you have to say, you tell me things that I'll take to my grave (i'll lend an ear when no one's listening) and when you think you're just too weak to go on, i'll be the one to help you pull through strong, i'll lend a hand to lift (pick you up) you off the ground, and you can stand up to what put you down

Pre-Chorus:

(comfortable in your own skin) to let you in

Chorus:

so call me anytime you want, and we'll listen to your favorite song, & forget about the world for a minute
or two

your heart up with some of my life juice, cuz' that's what friends are for, life juice
